WASHINGTON CITY

The Silver Question

The Tribune Washington special says every day's delay in consideration of the silver bill makes its passage more and more doubtful. Many Republicans who were at first in favor of the bill have had their attention called to the results of passing either of the bills proposed and will vote against them in future. Besides this the chances of using up time by filibustering become better as the close of the session approaches. Holman's amendment by which he proposes to repeal certain portions of the resumption act will be the first attacked on a point of order objection being made that it is not germain to the bill. The decision on this point of order will certainly occupy the morning hour for at least one day and may be made to use time for several days. Other points of order will follow and all well known legislative experiments for postponing a vote will be resorted to. If it is desirable for Congress to legislate at all upon this subject every one who has given it the least study admits the wisdom of making haste slowly and avoiding any legislation which is not well considered

The World's Washington special concerning the silver bill says the supporters of the bill count upon a clear majority for at least that portion which restores the legal tender feature of the old silver dollar. The chairman of the finance committee in the Senate is in favor of making silver coin legal tender for twenty dollars and favors passing the House bill thus amended through the Senate. The question in all its bearings does not seem to be thoroughly understood by many members of the House and when it does come up there will be a disposition to debate it

The Impeachment Case.

CHICAGO July 27 — The Inter Ocean's special says it is generally conceded that the verdict of the Senate in the impeachment case will be acquittal on the ground of no jurisdiction

NEW YORK July 27 — The Herald's Washington special thinks Caperton's death will likely put in the Belknap verdict

The Sun's Washington special says the conviction seems to have grown stronger during the past two days that the Senate will acquit Belknap. This will of course be ostensibly on the theory that the Senate has no jurisdiction

Adjournment of Congress.

Representative Morrison to-day consulted with a number of senators concerning the time of final adjournment and was informed that the Senate will be ready to adjourn on Monday. He does not however believe it is possible to finish all the business before Wednesday or Thursday and will not draw up a resolution providing for adjournment until it is apparent that both branches can adjourn within 24 hours thereafter. He is anxious for some reason that the majority in the House shall not avail themselves of the rule allowing suspension of the rules during the last six days of the session which they can if the time is fixed for adjournment within the next three or four days Until the adjournment is agreed on by both branches there can be no suspension of the rules

Looking up Important Papers.

WASHINGTON July 27 — In view of the published expressions of Yaryan the President has been anxious for his own protection to get possession of the original of the "let no guilty man escape" letter. Bluford Wilson informed the President that it is reported it was on file in the office of the Solicitor of the Treasury but it could not be found. Last evening the late solicitor had three boxes sealed up and directed to Bluford Wilson Springfield Ills. It was reported to the President this morning that several telegrams in the whisky cases were missing and that Wilson had many copies of important documents made and they too were missing. The President directed Secretary Morrill to have the boxes opened in the presence of Wilson. This was done in spite of his protests and the letters so anxiously desired by the President and copies of important papers bearing upon the whisky frauds were found. Wilson in the future will be allowed no access to public documents, except by consent of department officials

Movements of Troops.

WASHINGTON July 27 — Telegraphic instructions have been sent to the commanding officer at Columbus S C ordering the commanding officer of the United States troops at Aiken to detail an officer and picked guard of men for duty at Hamburg. Eight companies of artillery have been ordered to the Department of Missouri, and Lieut Colonels Dudley 9th Cavalry and Otis 7th Cavalry have been ordered to join their regiments. Captain Pillow 21st Infantry will take a detachment of recruits from Ohio to the Pacific division and join his company

Coinage of Trade Dollars Stopped.

WASHINGTON, July 27 — The Secretary of the Treasury has stopped the coinage of trade dollars at Philadelphia and Carson mints and ordered San Francisco mint to coin sufficient quantities to meet actual export. The mints will be run to their full capacity on subsidiary coin and necessary gold coin

Minority Report of Committee on Naval Affairs.

[Concluded.]

The minority complain that they have had very little time to prepare their report. Though the majority have had one hundred and sixty pages elaborately prepared for four months the Secretary of the Navy and subordinates were excluded from the committee room where the investigation has been progressing for six months and the members of the committee are bound to secrecy. They condemn the methods of procedure of the majority in almost every particular and claim to have been wronged and overridden in committee. When a Republican asked in committee by what authority the report of the chairman about to be read had been prepared the chairman replied "I recognized my political friends on the committee and have consulted them only and proceeded to report." During the reading of the report it became apparent that it had been already agreed to be passed upon by the majority of the committee its reading having consumed the entire day of the 18th. The Republican members of the committee the next day proposed to take it up subject by subject and its use and amend it. This proposition was voted down by a party vote in committee thus depriving the minority of any influence in determining its conclusions and the report so made is likely to be in some measure but the political sentiments of its authors adapted to what they may deem the political necessities of their party and is in fact a partisan document made on the eve of a great political conflict and is designed for political effect.

Failed to Compromise.

WASHINGTON July 27 — The committee of conference on the consular and diplomatic appropriation bill held a meeting to-day and successively voted down a number of propositions suggested as the basis of compromise

Chinese Immigration Statistics.

Official returns made to the bureau of statistics show that during the fiscal year ending June 30th 1876 there arrived in the United States 22,?? Chinese immigrants of whom only ?? were females. During the corresponding period of 1875 the total immigration to the United States from China was 16,4?? of whom 8? were females

Probable Fate of the Silver Bill.

WASHINGTON July 27 — P M — The House's early adjournment not only prevented action on the mining committee's silver bill to-day but probably throws it over till next week with greatly diminished prospects of passage. The special assignment of to-morrow's session for consideration of the naval committee reports and the pendency of the contested election case as unfinished business, together with the fact that to-morrow and Saturday are for the rules are private bill days. It is believed renders unavailing any attempt to get up the silver bill this week. On Monday it [illegible] weighted by the adoption of Holman's [illegible] partially repealing the resumption [illegible] the passage of the bill [illegible] the rules as [illegible] similar [illegible] revival of the silver [illegible] less than two [illegible] two-third cannot be [illegible]

Bluford Wilson before the Whisky Committee.

WASHINGTON July [illegible] Bluford Wilson [illegible] his testimony [illegible] This letter thus addressed was exhibited to Pierrepont and also to the President and although a press copy in Wilson's letter box was [illegible] He seems to have been [illegible] the charge of having employed spies even against the President. Wilson said that there was no lack of co-operation on the part of the President in whisky cases gen erally but that Babcock [illegible] involved [illegible] correspondence between the White House and Treasury department [illegible] testified that [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Then said Babcock "I wish you would get her away from here, she is annoying the President." "Certainly," said McDonald, "that is easy. I can manage her," and he did. So the term Sylph became a sort of standing joke between Babcock and McDonald and they then addressed each other and signed their communications in that way. When charged with having set spies on the President, Wilson himself [illegible] told the President of his suspicions of Babcock and related the explanation of Sylph given by Porter the President indignantly denied the story brushed away with a contemptuous gesture and proceeded with his remarks on the subject of the fraud saying that he believed Babcock innocent but that if guilty he was the most guilty wretch in the country and no punishment could be too severe for him. When he first heard this story from Porter he believed it to be false and he still believed so. He will be further examined to-morrow

An Investigation that Did Not Come Out Right.

PHILADELPHIA July 27 — The Reporter of this city to-day publishes the following from its Washington special correspondent under the heading "Hoist with their own petard." Glover's committee on examination into Ordway's account has found that Congressman Luttrell, Democratic member from California, when down on an Alabama committee got away with nearly $300 in excess of his actual expenses. So far they have not only not found any Republican with a dollar improperly obtained but the only persons who ran their arms into Uncle Sam's chest when chance occurred were Democrats

The New Steamboat Bill.

WASHINGTON July 27 — The Senate committee on commerce held a meeting this afternoon and agreed upon a steamboat bill and directed Senator Boutwell to report it to the Senate. The Senate committee has entirely remodeled the bill and as agreed upon to-day leaves it substantially as it now exists

Reports of Investigating Committees

WASHINGTON July 27 — The desire having been expressed by Democrats generally that all reports of investigating committees be made by Tuesday next in order if possible to adjourn at the end of next week several are now ready including the one on Louisiana affairs and others are in course of preparation.

Why Burleigh Signed the Report.

CHICAGO July 27 — An Inter Ocean Washington special says the fact that Burleigh of Maine signed the majority report of the naval committee with the Democrats is accounted for by some personal prejudice he has against Robeson since he considers himself unjustly treated by the nomination of another man as his successor being himself a candidate

Plan to Re-establish the Fast Mail.

Senator Hamlin has a plan for re-establishing the fast mail which he will attach to a post route bill that is now under consideration in the Senate postal committee

The Impeachment Court in a Predicament.

The court of impeachment finds itself in a funny predicament. The Senate adjourned last night until 11 this morning and as a court of impeachment until 12 o'clock. The Senate met and adjourned but the court did not meet and there is some question by the croakers as to what can be done

Another Committee to Report on Robeson.

Two committees have reported on Robeson and a third is coming up with its burden namely the committee on expenditures in the navy department which want to impeach him for paying questionable accounts

Democratic Caucus

CHICAGO July 27 — The Tribune's Washington special says the Democratic caucus to-night after a bitter wrangling debate of several hours adopted a resolution repealing the date of the resumption act. The resolution was in the language of the St. Louis platform. Some hard money men say they will not be bound by this action as the attendance was scanty

CONGRESSIONAL.

Senate.

WASHINGTON July 27 — After reading the Journal Bayard said I am sure the Senate and country will be deeply affected by the announcement of the melancholy event of yesterday the death of our late friend and brother Allen T Caperton Senator from West Virginia. I move as a mark of respect justly due to the memory of this excellent and honorable man that the Senate stand adjourned until to-morrow 11 A M

Stevenson said he concurred in what had been said and moved a committee of four Senators be appointed to accompany the remains of deceased to his late residence in West Virginia agreed to and the Chair appointed Davis Cooper Booth and Hitchcock as such committee

The motion of Bayard was then agreed to and the Senate adjourned till to-morrow

House.

The committee on appropriations reported back the Senate bill appropriating $200,000 for the construction of the Washington monument passed with amendments increasing the amount to $250,000

A message from the Senate announcing the death of Senator Caperton of West Virginia was presented whereupon, on motion of Wilson the usual resolutions were adopted. Wilson Banks Luttrell Douglas Hardenburg Frankner and Kasson were appointed a committee to conduct the body to West Virginia. House adjourned

THE SIOUX CAMPAIGN.

Later from Crook's Command.

NEW YORK July 26 — The Tribune's special from Crook's command has the following: It was Crook's intention originally to renew operations against the Sioux upon the arrival of the wagon train and additional infantry from Fort Fetterman but the fatal results attending Terry's expedition suggested the propriety of adding eight companies of the fifth cavalry under Merritt at or near Laramie to this command with their wagons and infantry but as yet there are no certain tidings of the whereabouts of Merritt. On the 15th he went in pursuit of a body of Cheyennes. Crook thinks the Sioux have resolved to keep the chain of mountains and swing around south toward the head of Powder river and debouch on the plains toward Fort Fetterman. He doesn't think it advisable for Terry to join him until engaging the enemy when said see Terry [illegible] before he could effect a junction. Four Crow Indian couriers from Terry at the mouth of the Big Horn started back to-night with dispatches on this subject. The Sioux cannot move their families or effects through the rough mountains as rapidly as the soldiers can follow them, hence they must either make a stand or leave them behind after the fight is under way. The Snake Indian allies are of this way of thinking and are almost as anxious for an advance as any other portion of this command. A pack train of 380 mules is just organized, the first affair of the kind on the continent and are in condition to follow the enemy over any track they select and make a good fight besides so that the command will be enabled to remain in the roughest mountains for an indefinite period. It is hoped Gen Sheridan did not make a mistake in approving Merritt's raid after the Cheyennes in the face of his own and Crook's orders to join this command at once. This delay greatly complicated the situation here and justifies Crook in his proposed advance. Those eight companies of the 5th cavalry are considered worth at least twelve of these present. The infantry present both of officers and men are full of what thorough soldiers call esprit and should the enemy cling to the timber and rocks a good account will be rendered by the men on foot. A small party of Snake scouts will be sent out to-night and endeavor to definitely locate the Sioux. This reconnoissance will require two or three days time and in the meantime the wagons and main command will work their way to find a camp and point of departure. It is hoped and expected that a band of Utes and possibly a band of Bannock allies will join the expedition before the next move. These Indian allies are however voluntary aids and are looking for what plunder they can capture. Owing to their superstitious notions they are not altogether trustworthy unless encouraged by [illegible] from the first. Evidently but a short time will elapse before the entire command will be out to the test

Indigent Chinese Returning Home

A few days ago it was announced that the ship Scotland had been engaged to take 400 Chinamen from this port to Hongkong. It appears that the Chinese merchants engaged passage for a consideration of the ship for $8,000. They then posted notices throughout the State that indigent Chinamen to the number of 400 could obtain passage home on the vessel for the low sum of ten dollars each furnishing their own provisions the ship providing water and fuel. The merchants paid the balance of $4,000 due on the charter and also made arrangements with the heads of the six companies to remit the return capitation tax of $5 due the companies from departing countrymen

Jerome was the favorite at $100 to $40 on Treat. The latter won in three straight heats in 2:32½, 2:29½ and 2:28½. For the trot to-morrow 11 horses have entered and a lively time is anticipated

Failure of the Silver Movement.

SAN FRANCISCO July 27 — The retail merchants met at Dashaway Hall to the number of eleven this morning to further consider the silver discount question, but as so little interest appeared to be shown in the matter it was resolved to adjourn the subject to the call of the president. It was mentioned incidentally that a number of merchants had signed the resolutions adopted at the last meeting but the general impression appeared to be that the whole thing had ended in smoke

Steamship Arrived.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 27 — The Pacific Mail steamer City of San Francisco arrived this evening from Sydney via Honolulu. Among her passengers are the Australian Rifle Team en route to Philadelphia to compete at the Centennial matches. It is also rumored that Col Steinberger of Samoa is on board but the report lacks confirmation

The California Grangers will Ship on their own Account.

SAN FRANCISCO July 27. — The Grangers from the interior finished their business yesterday and adjourned. Their meeting was secret and the proceedings were not made public but enough has been divulged to enable a positive statement to be made that farmers will after this ship their own wheat. No trouble is anticipated in obtaining all the vessels they may need. The meeting was made up of representative men among the Grangers, most of those present being persons of wealth, well able either to ship or hold their wheat, as they may decide. It was the unanimous conclusion that this course of action should be adopted. Up to the present time farmers have been unable to get money from city capitalists so closely is the floating capital been covered, even upon the best security. By shipping their own wheat, farmers can, when the cargo is finished and insured obtain an advance of 75 per cent of its value from English houses that make a business of loaning money in that way. This margin can be loaned out among themselves and help other shipments, thus effectually blocking any combination that may seek to control the wheat crop of the State. So thoroughly convinced are the representatives of the meeting of the practicability of this arrangement that they will all recommend its adoption at their different granges, and urge perfect unanimity of action on the part of all farmers who have wheat to dispose of. It may be stated that the present condition of the market for grain vessels favors this stand of the farmers price per ton which declined in a marked degree a couple of months ago. At that time vessels were chartered to arrive at £3 5s@£3 10s per ton. Yesterday a reporter was informed on good authority that a first-class British iron ship was taken at £2 16s, which was chartered early in the season at £3. It is reported that at the convention there are 120 delegates who represent over $3,000,000 capital and some 200,000 tons of wheat

The Bulletin-Alta Libel Suit.

In the Bulletin-Alta libel suit the further testimony of Michael Reese and D O Mills was taken before the court commissioners yesterday. Reese testified to the following effect. The failure of the bank was caused by Ralston's taking money from it to expend in outside affairs. Ralston was the architect of a job to sell the Spring Valley water works and Calaveras valley scheme to the city at a profit of about $8,000,000. I helped him in furnishing large amounts to buy up stock. I advanced between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000, and he had the whole management of it. He expected to make enough out of the job to save the bank from failure. It was the last thing to do to save it. If the scheme had been carried out I don't think the bank would have failed. Ralston took funds of the bank to carry on the Water Scheme Palace Hotel Kimball Manufacturing Company, Mission Woolen Mills and other outside enterprises. No one thought he would take money due the stockholders. I thought it was his own fortune he was operating with. I paid in £300,000 sterling exchange one day to make good the account of Leland Stanford at the bank, at the latter's request. After the failure I found that the amount had not been credited on the books, but that Ralston had taken it. I got a guarantee from Ralston that the amount should go to Stanford's credit, but received no certificate of deposit, but took as security bonds of the Southern Pacific Railroad, which Stanford had deposited with the bank as security for his overdrafts.

D O Mills, referring to the charge in the Alta of September 21, 1875, that the proprietors of the Bulletin and Call remitted money to Simonton at New York to speculate in stocks that they strove to make a panic as disastrous as possible and were in conspiracy to break the bank, testified: I know of no effort of those parties to affect stock values or injure the bank, or cause the public to lose confidence in it. The cause of the failure of the bank of California was that Ralston used the funds for his own purposes and did not replace them. This he did surreptitiously, irregularly and without the knowledge of the directors. The largest deficit was found in the refinery account amounting to about two millions. The refinery was a separate corporation, but under the control of the bank. The books of the bank contained a debit to refinery account of upwards of two millions which was fictitious and manufactured by Ralston who had evidently used the money for his own purposes. We also found instances in which certificates of deposit had been issued on which money had never come into the bank; one instance was that of Carpenter's certificate for over half a million. Ralston's total indebtedness was over four millions. You may call it what you like, it was misappropriation. As to Ralston's stock I made no examination of that until after the bank resumed. Am credibly informed that there was an over-issue to a large amount but it had been retired in the stock and all right when I took the books in hand. We [illegible] the question of such stock [illegible] and the point was not pressed. I judged it was to the interest of the Railroad. Before the suspension of the bank there were overtures made by persons interested in the bank to get into some arrangement with Flood & O'Brien by which that firm was to take the bank and carry it on, the parties making the proposition offering to be responsible to the amount of $1,000,000 if the assets of the bank were not sufficient. I was a party to that. I do not know of any articles published by the Call and Bulletin at that time. After the failure I had an interview with the proprietors of those papers and suggested that the newspaper controversy then going on upon the subject was detrimental to the prospects of the bank resuming. They said the controversy had placed them in a false light. They were charged with doing things they were not guilty of, but on informing them we were doing our best to resume they too favored that result, and agreed in effect to drop the controversy and stop defending themselves. It was admitted on all hands it would be for the interest of the community and that they would do nothing to impede us in the work of resuming. I think they afterwards did all that was possible to assist us

Drunken Man Run Over by a Train.

ELKO July 27 — The freight train which left here for the west at 8 o'clock last evening ran over the body of a man, cutting it to pieces. The night being dark the body was not discovered in time to prevent the train passing over it. As soon as discovered Conductor John Ward backed his train into town and notified the coroner of the facts. The head was severed from the body and the countenance mangled beyond recognition. His name is said to be Costello his age about 26 years. It is supposed he started for McCall's ranch where he has been working, and being very drunk, laid down on the track and was too drunk to realize the situation

Indian Shot by a Sheep Herder.

JACKSONVILLE, July 27 — On last Sunday morning a man named Queen, a sheep herder from Colusa county California, shot an Indian at Modoc Point in Lake county in this State belonging to the Klamath Reservation. It appears that the Indian demanded money for pasturage in a threatening manner, when Queen drew his revolver and shot him in the neck, inflicting a dangerous and probably fatal wound. Queen delivered himself up to the commanding officer at Fort Klamath and is now confined in the guard house to wait the action of the U S District Court. Queen's band of sheep about 1,200 head, has been taken in charge by Indian Agent Dyar

Seattle Fair

SEATTLE, July 27 — The colts race for three-year-olds came off on the Seattle track to-day. Two animals only were entered Sank Owens, from Oregon, and Minnie Howard, from Victoria. The latter won in two straight heats. Time 1:43¼ and 1:40. The heats were once around the track, which is 240 yards less than a mile. The purse was $200. To-morrow's race will be two and a half miles and repeat for a purse of $500. The following horses have been entered: Tom Merry, of Seattle, Craggy Burns, from Victoria and Billy Bigham, from Oregon. Pool selling has not yet commenced; Tom Merry appears to be the favorite

Cassiar News.

VICTORIA, July 27. — The steamship California from Sitka and Wrangel arrived at Esquimault Tuesday night. News from Cassiar is not very full but there is every confidence that the district will prove as remunerative as in preceding seasons. Rich ground was struck on Snow creek, a tributary of McDame creek. Four men in one week ending July 3d, took out $6,000. Provisions are scarce and dear.

A Cabinet Officer Out.

The Colonist this morning announces that Wm Smithe, the senior member from Cowichan District, has been appointed as finance minister instead of T G Humphreys. The latter gentleman says he has not resigned the office. It is generally supposed he has been requested to resign, but declines doing so, preferring to become a martyr.

HILLSBORO LETTER.

HILLSBORO, July 22, 1876.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

According to previous notice, the great Democratic hoodoo came to pass. The writer was led to believe that every Bourbon in Washington county would be out. The air was filled with original rumors—"Later," "Still later," "Later from Headquarters," "Dr Bailey says," &c, until the writer gave the county up to the white man's government. At 1 o'clock the Dr. came out with his new plug hat on. After vainly searching around he failed to find the speakers. Col Nesmith had weakened lest he should offend our Republican legislators. Nes is too smart for Grover though an ill natured cuss did report that Nes had promised the boys he would come after them with those Percheron stallions in order to relieve them of the odium of patronizing the railroad monopoly to Salem.

THE BRASS BAND

Led off to the court house at a good pace, playing "Sherman's March through Georgia," followed by Dr Bailey, J R Porter and J. E Chenette, in single file, forming the procession, about half way over, Chenette fell out of ranks, because Porter still had the smell of the Independent movement about him, and Judge Humphreys took his place

AT THE COURTHOUSE,

The band belabored Mr Yankee Doodle after which a count was had, and there were present just 35 Democrats, all politicians in precinct affairs, most of them men well known as precinct wire pullers, and ten or fifteen Republicans, who came out of curiosity, that made up the audience.

DR BAILEY'S SPEECH

Was a characteristic one, of the whang doodle sort, in which he offered to prove that Tilden did gain two suits against the canal ring

THE CLUB

Was then organized, the object of which it seems, is to find employment for as many tatters as possible to influence as many honest men as possible to vote the Democratic ticket under the hue and cry of corruption. They hope to carry Washington county by getting out as many as possible that will vote their ticket and persuading as many as possible that will not vote their ticket to stay at home. Look out for these Knownothing Democratic clubbers. They expect to interview every voter in the county

FIRE

The house of Mr Hawthorne on what is known as the Belknap farm two miles east of Hillsboro was burned last week. The family saved nothing scarcely. They were new immigrants, and it leaves them destitute. Cause of fire—a defective flue

SMALLPOX

Two of Mr Meek's sons Stephen and Joseph are having an attack of variolid. They are not however in a very dangerous condition

The second daughter of Mrs J I Meeks died on the 20th inst of consumption

AFRAID TO COME

It is reported that many persons are afraid to attend the basket meeting at Hillsboro on the 29th and 30th on account of the smallpox. Dr Vite and Dr Bailey assure us that there is not a case of smallpox nearer than Meek's which is four miles north of Hillsboro, so there is no more danger in coming than in staying at home

Mrs W D Hare of Astoria is lying very ill at her sister's, near Hillsboro

It is as much as one's life is worth to ask the Hillsboro Brass Band where them $20 is that a certain doctor of Portland promised them to go out with him serenading the other evening. Our hotel man and stable man and even our detective Charles Loughlin are about searching for a man that can do the subject justice as the English language fails to express their disgust. Our dentist sits and prayerfully contemplates the ceiling cogitating upon the cussedness of human duplicity and still the boys ask him where is thy friend that was worth those $200,000. Echo answers what? I never pitied any one who was always ready to get humbugged

OREGON

A special term of the Clackamas county court will be held on the 5th of August

Mrs Mamie Adams formerly of Salem has been chosen preceptress in the Santa Clara College

Five marriage licenses have been issued from the county clerk's office in Clackamas county during July

The people of Salem and Albany are generally now in the mountains or at the coast, and both towns are said to be unusually quiet.

Mr W P Crow, of Milton Umatilla county under date of July 23d, says that on that day he had green corn and ripe water melons from his farm. He wants to send us some, and has our permission

John Kimball, of Wasco county walks on crutches now because he was too familiar with the heels of one of the descendants of the animal that Balaam rode. And that's what makes John "despise a mule."

A little four-year old son of Mr. W P Crow, of Umatilla county, was being carried on horse back by his elder brother not long ago, and was thrown. As soon as those near him could reach him they did so, fearing that he would be found killed or at least badly hurt, but as he was picked up he cunningly inquired, "Is dat frowin'?"

A correspondent of the Farmer, writing from the Coquille, says "The Coos Bay wagon road is in fair condition now, and teams from Douglas county are becoming common. The long late rainy season has kept the road in a bad condition much later than usual this year. The road from this place to the C B W. road is being put in good condition, and hereafter we expect to have a good road to Roseburg whenever the C B W road is in good condition"

The Oregon City Enterprise says "Hon Henry Warren, of Yamhill county, was in town last week, interviewing the boat-builders in regard to constructing a boat to run on the Yamhill river. Mr. Warren says the farmers of Yamhill mean business, and will not submit to the present extortionate rates of the W. R. T. & L. Co., and that they intend to have a boat as soon as possible."

A correspondent of the Statesman, writing from one of the principal wheat-growing districts of Marion county, says. "Our wheat crop looks well and promises an average yield, and if we can get anything like a fair price for this crop, times will be comparatively easy in this part of the county and State, but should times continue as close and tight as they are now, and there be no better market for our produce than is offered now, I fear there will be a great many farmers ruined or crippled so that they cannot prosecute their business."

The Albany Democrat says: "Quite an excitement now exists in Sweet Home over the prospect of the opening out of a new county road, commencing at Ames creek and running from thence along the Santiam to Lower Soda. There is a great deal of strife over the question, and, of course, good feeling is used on both sides. One side says it will take from $4,000 to $6,000 to open the road, and that as the district is small and has other roads to keep up, it will take every hoof of their cattle to pay their road tax. The other side of the question is that the road will cost only about $400, and will do away entirely with the Wiley hill."

The Jacksonville Sentinel says: "The Ennaline Quicksilver Mining company, of Beaver, just across the State line, have at last struck the rich deposit of cinnabar that they were confident existed in their claim. The company constructed a ditch this summer, carrying a fine head of water, and the first day's ground-sluicing in the ravine where the large pieces of "float" were found, developed two very rich veins, which were eighteen inches in width, and showing ore that cannot be surpassed by any mine in the world. Messrs. Klippel and Cornell arrived from Beaver on Monday, bringing about 200 pounds of ore that will average 60 per cent., some of it in pieces taken from the lead weighing sixteen pounds, and perfectly pure. We learn that the company intend concentrating their ore for the present and retorting it on this side of the mountains. The lucky locators of the mine are Messrs. Klippel, Turner, Miller and Cornell, who each own one eighth and, even at the low price of quicksilver, they see a good thing in it, and we have no doubt but what they have secured a competency"

One week ago the oldest son of Mr. Handsaker, postmaster at Pleasant Hill, Lane county, met with a severe accident near the Des Chutes. While riding along, his cousin, Mr. G W Handsaker of [illegible], their horses became mired in a swamp, and in the act of getting off, Mr. J T Handsaker's gun fell from his hand and discharged the contents into his left leg below the knee, shattering the large bone and carrying away a large portion. Fortunately, Messrs Averill and Bedford, of Summer Lake, were near and rendered all the assistance in their power. In the darkness of the night the young man was conveyed a distance of twenty five miles to the house of Mr Rigdon, where he was kindly cared for until medical aid could reach him. Dr T. W. Shelton, of Eugene, was immediately called for, but although no time was lost, did not succeed in reaching him till Saturday. As soon as the wound was dressed, the young man was conveyed to the residence of his father, making in all a ride of ninety miles in a two-horse wagon. We hope the young man may speedily recover under the skillful care of Dr Shelton but at present it is probable that amputation will be necessary. We are sorry for the afflicted parties, as eighteen months ago Dr Shelton was called to remove the leg of a younger son, whom, we are glad to say, has entirely recovered. Mr J T Handsaker has been a citizen of our State only about a year. He is a graduate of McKendree College, Ill., and during the past year has been engaged in teaching, in which he has been quite successful.

FRIDAY MORNING JULY 28 1876

THE GOVERNORS

It is a fact bearing some significance that three of the nominees of the two parties are Governors of the respective States in which they are residents, Hayes of Ohio, Tilden of New York and Hendricks of Indiana. These three gentlemen govern about one fourth the entire population of the United States. In this respect the politics of the nation has taken a detour from the usual trodden path, as it has generally been supposed that nominees on the national ticket must have performed distinguished service in the legislature of the nation. Governor Hayes, it is true, served a brief period in the House of Representatives, but attracted little attention in that body as a talker or a debater. Governor Tilden has never held any Federal position or had any legislative experience except a term or so in the legislature of the Empire State. Governor Hendricks served a full term of six years in the United States Senate, but his habits were such that he was not assigned a position on any of the Senate committees during a portion of his term, occupying a blank in that body along with McDougall of California and Saulsbury of Delaware. Mr Wheeler, the Republican nominee for Vice President, is the only one who has had extensive legislative experience, and he owes his present elevation to the magnificent ability displayed by him in the settlement of the Louisiana embroglio. So the Governors seem to have the best of the situation, supplanting on the Republican side such redoubtable leaders in the political forum as ex Speaker Blaine and Senators Morton and Conkling, and on the Democratic side Senators Thurman and Bayard. We are not certain but this circumstance augurs well for good government. It may be well that in the selection of candidates fair executive ability is given preference before those possessing the qualities which shine in the halls of legislation or arouse enthusiasm on the stump and at the hustings. Certain it is, the man who has distinguished himself in some particular capacity, cannot be said necessarily to be fitted for every position in life. A man may become a distinguished preacher, like Henry Ward Beecher, or a bard, whose name, like that of Shakespeare, Bryant, Longfellow or Holmes, will live as long as our language is spoken, or a jurist, along with Marshall, Jay and Story, or a General, to lead armies to victory and glory, as Grant, Sherman and Thomas have done, and still be wanting in those essential qualities of executive ability which would enable him to lead a great and enlightened nation in the path of true prosperity, happiness and progress. The men of action, the great motors in our governmental policy, have generally been men of few words but deep thought. Washington, the most noted example of our time and country, solved the mighty problem of the Revolution on the tented field, and set in motion the ponderous machinery of a mighty nationality, without ever having made a set speech, and finally retired from the arena of public life, through his "Farewell Address," written by the more brilliant and more learned Hamilton.

In this connection our thoughts are naturally directed to the peculiar fitness of the nomination of Governor Hayes. Unlike his opponent, who is serving a first term as a State executive, Mr Hayes has thrice been called to assume the functions of executive position by the people of the great State of Ohio, an honor never before conferred upon any of the many distinguished men who have been called upon to direct the helm of state, a fact which speaks volumes for the Republican candidate for the Presidency. In every position in life from early manhood to the present time, Governor Hayes has at all times and in every position shown pre-eminent executive ability; so we attach very little importance to the silly twaddle of some very silly editors, that he is not a brilliant orator or a distinguished leader in Congress, and therefore not fit for the chief magistracy. It is executive ability, tried and true, and of a high order, a pure character and a loyal record which will best adorn the name whom the people should elevate to the Presidency next November, and among the candidates presented none, in our estimation, seem to fill the requirements so perfectly as Governor Hayes and Congressman Wheeler.

A BREEZE IN WHEAT

While Oregon farmers are beset with difficulties and embarrassments arising out of a monopoly of inland transportation, the wheat producers of California are addressing themselves to the problem of breaking up the monopoly of shipping between the Pacific coast and England. They have entered into a combination and agreed not to sell their wheat till the wheat ring of San Francisco who control the tonnage and have hitherto controlled the market is broken down. The wheat ring have for some years secured in advance most of the charters for wheat for Liverpool, and enabled themselves by that means to keep the market perfectly in hand. They have proceeded this year in the same way, but it is expected by the producers that the demurrage charges in case cargoes cannot be promptly obtained will soon bring the ring to terms. If the producers are able to hold on it is not easy to see how the ring with so many vessels in their hands can prevent the success of the combination. A few millions of money will melt down in a very short time under demurrage at the rate of $100 per day for each vessel of the grain fleet for San Francisco [illegible]. The action of the producers causes quite a flutter among shippers. No wonder. Such action means more, if the producers are in condition to maintain themselves for any considerable length of time, than any scheme for direct shipment by them without middle men.

At the first blush it will be thought the want of cargoes at San Francisco will prove advantageous to Oregon farmers by sending vessels to the Columbia river. But this conclusion may be erroneous. The power that controlled the shipping at San Francisco has regulated to a great extent the tonnage to this port. The wheat market here depends upon the rates at San Francisco, and so long as the shippers there refuse to sell our shippers can not afford to take chances of loading vessels at advanced figures. [illegible] termination of the contest there at any time by the surrender of the producers would at once bring all the available shipping into demand and hold charters up to the rates now [illegible]. In this view of the matter both the producers and the shippers of this State have an indirect but not the less real interest in the struggle between the farmers and the ring in California.

DEMOCRATIC SELF STULTIFICATION

Have the Democratic editors of this State, who clamored so loud for hard money and for the abolition of the national banks, studied the platform adopted by their party at the St Louis national convention? If they have, how can they support the nominees of that convention? The platform demands the repeal of—the act of January, 1875, commonly called the specie resumption act. No. Not the repeal of the bill, but the repeal of the resumption clause of it only. What will be left of the bill when the resumption clause is repealed? Everything that these Democratic editors have been denouncing with so much vehemence. The provision enlarging and extending the operations of the national bank system, laying the foundation of that system deeper and broader, will be left. The provision for retiring an amount of the greenback currency equal to eighty per cent of the new issues of national bank notes—a provision objected to by hard money Republicans at the time of its passage, and acquiesced in by them only as a means of securing the enactment of the resumption clause—a provision for inflation of paper money to the amount of twenty per cent—will be left. Repeal the resumption clause and we shall have a law providing for a continual inflation till the entire volume of greenbacks, and twenty per cent more, is replaced by national bank notes—which is but another form of greenbacks—provided the spirit of speculation shall rise high enough to put the new national bank issues in circulation, and we shall have the national banks, of which the Democrats affect such horror, established as permanent institutions of the country, with no prospect of their ever becoming anything but paper money institutions. The resumption clause of the act of January, 1875, would force them to become coin banks within a reasonable time, but the Democrats propose to continue them indefinitely as paper banks.

And in what situation does this platform place Samuel J Tilden, the redoubtable bullionist of the eastern Democracy? When he accepted a nomination on that platform, he turned his back on all the hard money professions on which his popularity among the eastern Democrats and Oregon Democrats so much depended. The inflationists carried the convention, and Samuel J Tilden surrendered his hard-money record, became the inflation candidate and shook hands with the Republicans on the national bank question. Perhaps a realization of the extremely awkward position in which he has placed himself accounts for the non-appearance of his letter of acceptance. He is perhaps endeavoring to devise some way to evade the alternative presented to him of either taking issue with the platform of his party or publishing his self stultification to the world. Will some of the hard-money anti national bank Democrats of Oregon who are supporting Mr Tilden explain this matter?

Announcement is made that the Evening Journal of this city has changed hands. Mr A Bushwiler having sold the paper to Mr A Noltner of the Standard. The Journal has been an acceptable paper hitherto, considering its politics, and as it passes into no inexperienced hands continued prosperity may be reasonably predicted for it. We wish the new proprietor great success and would be glad to note at any time another change in the paper, a change from its political errors to sound views.

The New York Times mentions that Gen J K Moorehead of Pennsylvania, who four years ago supported Greeley for President, is now heartily for Hayes and Wheeler. The eloquent Thomas M Marshall, who also supported Greeley, is out for Hayes.

A SCRAP OF HISTORY

Here is a scrap of history taken from the proceedings of the Democratic National Convention of 1864 which may not prove the most pleasant reading to the members of the Democratic party of to-day who served the country in the late civil war.

The committee on resolutions in that convention consisted of one delegate from each State. James Guthrie, of Kentucky, was chairman, and Samuel J Tilden, of New York, was the member for that State. When this committee went out to perform its work a sub committee of five was appointed to draw up the resolutions, and this committee consisted of Samuel J Tilden of New York, chairman, George Hunt of Massachusetts, S S Marshall of Illinois, George H Smith of Wisconsin and John B Weller of California. This sub committee through its chairman Samuel J Tilden presented the resolutions unanimously to the full committee, which in turn presented the report to the convention with a dissenting vote and it was adopted. The notorious peace resolution, as it was reported by Samuel J Tilden to the full committee and through it to the convention and adopted as part of the Democratic platform, reads as follows:

Resolved, That this convention does explicitly declare, as the sense of the American people, that after four years of failure to restore the Union by the experiment of war, during which, under the pretense of a military necessity or war power higher than the Constitution, the Constitution itself has been disregarded in every part, and public liberty and private right alike trodden down, and the material prosperity of the country essentially impaired, justice, humanity, liberty and the public welfare demand that immediate efforts be made for a cessation of hostilities, with a view to an ultimate convention of all the States, or other peaceable means, to the end that at the earliest possible moment peace may be restored on the basis of the Federal Union of the States.

Quite a number of citizens of Oregon have got back from the Centennial. All are glad to get home. They generally agree that [illegible] Oregon is making a better showing at Philadelphia than any other State in the Union.

CITY.

Going Home.—Last September a Norwegian sailor named Carl Johnson while on board on the bark Electra met with a heavy fall badly fracturing the bones of one leg below the knee. He was moved to St Vincent Hospital where care and skillful attention was bestowed. Dr Kant, who attended him, at length pronounced him out of danger. Johnson being weak from the effects of his illness was advised by his physician not to attempt to toil at the sea until he had regained his lost strength. Early in the spring he went down the river and began work at one of the fisheries. He acquired a sum of money sufficient to carry him back to his native land and his health meantime continuing poor he determined to return to his native land. Yesterday he took passage on the steamer for home. From San Francisco Johnson will proceed overland to Canada where he will embark on one of the steamers belonging to the line of Allen & Co and sail direct to his home, Norway. Rev A E Fridrichsen of this place, who is acting as agent for Allen & Co, made all arrangements to have the poor laborer sent through without delay.

Passengers List.—The steamer Ajax which left here for San Francisco last evening carried away the following passengers: S H [illegible] Wesley Dowd John Green J G [illegible] Mayer Mrs Cody Mrs Maud Hilton [illegible] Gantenbein Miss Clara Hammson [illegible] Hammson John Lee F J Powell [illegible] Dampier Mrs F J Forbes Mrs [illegible] and son J M Fox J L Champer [illegible] wife Conrad Wynch, P Glessman [illegible] Smyther, J B Sanburn G R Duvall [illegible] F L Howe H B Botsford Jas [illegible] Mrs S F Baizley Mrs C Tichner [illegible] Wells Fargo & Co s messenger [illegible] Mrs McIntyre G G Holmes Geo [illegible] and wife Alex Francis John [illegible] Paul J Moor H Vollbinger

Arrivals at Sea Side House.—A gentleman coming from the beach sends the following list of arrivals at the Sea Side House from the 15th to the 24th: Levi White Chas [illegible] Miss Sarah Roberts John A K Cron [illegible] Lamb and family Philip Wasserman [illegible] Ludlaw, B Goldsmith and family [illegible] Rosell D L Walter B Natorf, W [illegible] and family, A Obendorfer C Alexander [illegible] P Lippitt and family J Lowenberg, [illegible] Cunningham M R Webb A Crum, [illegible] R Goldsmith San Francisco I [illegible] Fort Wrangel J L Williams and [illegible] Salem

[illegible] River Bar.—The survey of the bar at the mouth of the Columbia river was made in May and June by Captain Jesson and [illegible], by direction of Col Wilson. The ground over was 30 square miles 448 [illegible] run in making soundings, 2,384 angles observed and 12,381 soundings. The work has now been plotted. The [illegible] at mean low water are 5,000 feet [illegible] the least depth in the ship channel is 20½ feet. The tide rise from [illegible]

[illegible] Cards.—Says the P. C. Advocate: We received the wedding cards of Hon [illegible] Scott and Miss Maggie N. Mechesney, who were married at Latrobe Pa June 28. Mr and Mrs Scott will be at home in [illegible] Oregon after August 20 1876. We unite with the multitude of Mr [illegible] friends in extending the usual congratulations to the happy pair. May their united [illegible] be more than doubly useful, and heaven strew their pathway in all coming [illegible]

[illegible]—A few days since Rev A. E [illegible] left the city on a missionary tour [illegible] Columbia and over on the Sound. [illegible] the fact that the fishermen are all [illegible] as the run of salmon is at its [illegible] could not well attend to religious [illegible] Fridrichsen thought it best to [illegible] missionary trip until later in the season. Found.—Last evening between five o'clock the body of Thomas Anderson of the ship City of Sparta, was recovered. AMUSEMENTS.

Portlanders will not overlook the fact that the 21st Infantry band stationed at Vancouver under the leadership of Prof Hubner will give a grand instrumental concert at New Market Theater to-morrow evening. Elsewhere appears the programme from a perusal of which will be seen the excellence of the promised entertainment. The programme includes a number of classical and operatic selections and as every piece will be rendered with artistic accuracy and effect the entertainment gives assurance of being a rare musical treat. Between part first and part second there will be an allegorical representation of the States and Territories. All the little girls who took part in the Liberty car on the Fourth appear in the tableaux which is under the direction of Mrs C White. The sale of reserved seats will open to-morrow morning at Pfunder's drug store.

Prof S S Baldwin.—In the San Francisco [illegible] of July 20th we observe the following paragraph concerning the noted spiritualist exposer: During the week which at so many places of amusement everything was done to please the fancy of one better Prof S S Baldwin was appealing to the understanding and really doing a meritorious work in exposing clearly and amply the humbuggery and jugglery practiced by the Spiritualistic mediums in easing the pockets and often weakening or destroying the minds of their soft headed but numerous army of dupes. The rope tying, the miraculous changing of wine to water, independent writing upon slates, the handcuff tests, materialization, the pillars test and the Katie King mystery were all so thoroughly exposed and explained as to completely kill the business of the humbugs giving physical tests of Spiritualism henceforth in this city. The Professor had a prosperous season which he well deserved for the good work he did. Prof Baldwin is now over on the Sound en route for this city. He will give one of his marvelous performances at New Market Theater next Monday evening. Sale of reserved seats will commence to-morrow morning at Pfunder's drug store and Gray's music store.

CASCADE NOTES

Our regular correspondent at the Cascades sends the following items under date of July 26th:

The weather at present is extremely warm.

Mr Jackson shipped 400 head of sheep from the upper country which passed through here to-day en route for Victoria.

Quite a number of the fair sex of your city are paying their Cascade friends a brief visit.

Mrs L Morgan and son of the Upper Cascades, have gone to the classic shades of the Upper Willamette to spend the warm months of summer with some relations living in that vicinity.

The effects of the late high water have nearly all disappeared and everybody is busily employed in moving back to the old quarters and renovating the same.

A small box car that was used formerly on the C R R but has long since been taken off its wheels and deprived of everything that gave it the appearance of a car floated away with the flood and is said to have been seen as far down as Vancouver.

The barge Autocrat arrived yesterday in tow of the Oneonta loaded with the timbers for the new boat to be built on the Upper Columbia by Mr John Holland. The Huntress arrived from The Dalles the same day, and will convey the timbers from this point to The Dalles.

Mr Henry Winch the polite and gentlemanly purser on the Oneonta has been off duty for a few days past, as he had to undergo the painful operation of having an ingrowing nail extracted from his foot. Henry is about again, and handles the "ticket puncher" with as much skill as ever.

S M Hamilton, Esq, who not long since started on a visit to his native State in the East has again returned home, and looks as hearty and hale as ever. He is an old pioneer of this coast as he has lived here ever since and long before the Indian battle which took place at the Upper Cascades.

POSTAL.

The postmaster has received the following, which is quite important:

Postoffice Department
Washington July 13 1876

Sir—The following sections of a law have been passed by Congress and approved by the President:

"Sec 15. That transient newspapers and magazines, regular publications designed primarily for advertising purposes or for free circulation at nominal rates and all printed matter of the third class except unsealed circulars shall be admitted to, and be transmitted in the mails at the rate of one cent for every two ounces or fractional part thereof and one cent for each two additional ounces or fractional part thereof, and the sender of any article of the third class of mail matter may write his or her name or address therein, or on the outside thereof with the word "from" above or preceding the same, or may write briefly or print on any package the number and names of the articles inclosed. Publishers of newspapers and periodicals may print on the wrappers of newspapers or magazines sent from the office of publication to regular subscribers the time to which subscription therefor has been paid and addresses upon postal cards and unsealed circulars may be either written printed or affixed thereto at the option of the sender.

Sec 16. That all acts or parts of acts in conflict with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed."

On unsealed circulars and all mailable matter of the third class other than designated in the aforegoing section postage will be charged as heretofore one cent for each ounce or fraction thereof.

IN AND ABOUT YAQUINA BAY.

[A P]ortland [friend] writing from Newport under date of the 24th inst sends the following:

To the citizens of Portland who usually flee from the heat and dust of the city during the [dog] days I would recommend a trip to

NEWPORT ON YAQUINA BAY

This place is indeed quite a distance from here and it [illegible] difficult of access, [illegible] superior [illegible] when once reached [illegible] [illegible] as well as healthful recreation are in abundance at Newport. [illegible]

[illegible] Bay is well [illegible] from the old world [illegible] miles of [illegible] [illegible] along its edge.

In the immediate vicinity are numerous [illegible] [illegible] and within a few [illegible] are the oyster beds [illegible] when [illegible] we feast upon [illegible] the denizens of the deep we now wonder why they pass [illegible] of the time [illegible] [illegible]

The great object of interest on the bay is the

[illegible] LIGHT HOUSE

Situated two miles from Newport. It well repays a visit. The keeper Mr Weiss is a [illegible] gentleman always willing to show visitors around and give them information concerning the place. His explanation of the wonderful mechanism of the lamp is interesting indeed. This is the only first class light on the Pacific coast. It can be seen at a distance of twenty five to thirty miles out at sea. From the tower, [illegible] feet high the view of the ocean is grand. Looking at the water through the magnifying lens of the light is one of the most beautiful spectacles I have ever beheld. Every ripple on the surface of the water appears to combine all the colors of the rainbow and the sight dazzles one's eyes. Standing on one side of the lens and looking through at persons on the other affords considerable amusement as one's visage is made to appear much larger than in reality. There are two good

HOTELS AT NEWPORT

And excellent board and lodging may be obtained at the rate of eight dollars per week. At the Ocean House there are first rate accommodations for families and the table is always well supplied with fish crabs oysters and other good things. There is one store at Newport, Mr Samuel Case's where a good stock of general merchandise is kept. Parties coming here to camp out can get their supplies just as cheap here as on the other side of the mountains. Sam Case is also postmaster. He always has a letter for every one, and hence no one goes away disappointed and grumbling. Sam is a genial fellow and he

TAKES THE OREGONIAN

Boats may be hired here at very low rates for a sail on the bay. Capt Stevens of the sloop Pilot makes occasional trips across the bar and brings in loads of rock cod halibut bass and other delicious sea fish. Any one desirous of crossing the bar and sailing on the ocean is welcome to make the trip with Capt S, but very few muster sufficient courage to go to sea in a small craft. There are at present a great many visitors at this place mostly from Linn Lane and Benton counties. A jolly crowd of sixteen young ladies and gentlemen from Silverton, chaperoned by Hon W R Dunbar have been spending two or three weeks here.

AMUSING INCIDENTS

Frequently occur among the "bold yeomanry." The other day a farmer from Linn (a Democratic county by the way) led his horses to water at the beach. This morning while perambulating on the beach I met an old lady who was gathering curiosities. She had her hands full of common mosses kelp pieces of crab shell etc. When told they were not worth picking up she replied "I thought they was real purty." With their own teams one family making the journey alone or several from a neighborhood traveling together camping on the way and while at the bay are able thus to make the trip at once delightful instructive healthful and inexpensive.

Parties not traveling in their own conveyances will take the stage at Corvallis and proceed to Elk City, a distance of [illegible] miles. After a good night's rest a pleasant ride of 25 miles down the Yaquina river in a sailboat or small steamer brings you to this haven which I predict will in a few years be the summer resort of thousands of citizens of the Willamette valley.

RELIGIOUS SERVICES ON THE FAIR GROUNDS.

Portland April 26 1876

To the President and Executive Committee of the Agricultural Society of Oregon—Gentlemen: The undersigned having been appointed by the Young Men's Christian Association of Portland Oregon a committee to make arrangements for holding religious services at the State Fair to be conducted under the care of these associations would respectfully solicit your aid in the grant of a suitable lot of ground on which a building may be erected and held for such services.

It has come to the knowledge of gentlemen connected with the Young Men's Christian Association that the religious services conducted on the fair grounds last October were well attended and enjoyed by a large number of visitors and their families.

A strong desire was expressed to have such services every year. Several gentlemen and ladies remarked that they would gladly attend the State Fair and bring their families if they could be sure of these religious privileges while at the ground.

All were gratified at the courtesy of the executive committee in granting them a lot on which to pitch their tent and for the protection afforded them during their meetings.

This trial effort last autumn encouraged the hope that religious people all over the State will aid in the erection of a building suitable to shelter two thousand or one thousand or more persons during the hours of worship.

Hoping that your honorable committee may be able to grant us a lot and your influence in this enterprise we subscribe ourselves Yours respectfully

REPLY

Office of the Secretary of the Oregon State Agricultural Society
Salem Oregon July 11 1876

The board sanctions a lease of the building for what term do you desire it. You can state that the lease will be given and make collections.

E M WAITE Secy

Portland July 27, 1876

The committee as far as they have been able to consult together accept the lease of the building erected for the use of the orphan asylum. They propose to use this building and also the tent for meetings during the State Fair this year and to collect funds to erect one more suitable as soon as possible. Will friends of camp meetings on the State Fair grounds under the care of all the Y M C Associations of Oregon come prepared to aid in this service with praise and prayers and offerings for the cause of our Lord and Saviour. Will all the papers in the State give this notice to help the object?

The [illegible] market [illegible] ample supply [illegible] unchanged [illegible] that when the next two [illegible] the wants of business will be so much increased [illegible] that a much larger portion [illegible] the surplus [illegible] will [illegible] urgent needs of parties will justify a somewhat better [illegible] than is now prevailing While this hope is not likely to be realized to its full extent there is no doubt that the call will be of greater volume and on [illegible] the capital which has been idle for six months past will be drawn out into the channels of trade and the amount in general circulation considerably augmented The expected increased rates however may not be obtainable Those now ruling are quite as high as the present trade will warrant or should the condition of affairs here justify it a portion of the idle capital now seeking investment in the East at 6@8 per cent per annum would soon find its way here

The figures given by the mercantile agency of R G Dun & Co showing the number of business failures in the United States during the first six months of 1876 are before us and indicate a startling increase over the number occurring in the same length of time in 1875

The failures in all the States and Territories compare as follows

	1875
First quarter	1,98[illegible]	$43,000,000
Second quarter	1,5[illegible]	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]	[illegible]
	1876
First quarter	2,8[illegible]	$64,000,000
Second quarter	1,[illegible]	43,000,000
Total	[illegible]	$107,000,000

This shows an increase of 1,08[illegible] in the number of failures, or about 30 per cent, and $31,000,000 or over 40 per cent in the amount involved The increase as will be observed being mainly in the first quarter

The circular on the business outlook says

Notwithstanding the large increase for the six months, which the above figures imply, the marked decline in failures for the past quarter affords some encouragement to the belief now generally entertained that we have seen the worst effects of the present depression so far as casualties of this character are concerned It is true that business continues in a very depressed condition that the results of trade, with rare exceptions have been exceedingly unsatisfactory that values continue to decline and that uncertainty and anxiety exist in all quarters Yet, in the face of all this, there is comfort in the reflection that the causes which produced this condition of things have been almost completely reversed In the place of reckless over trading we have now lessened sales guided by caution and also prudence in purchasing Instead of enormous over production of all descriptions of manufactures there is now the strongest tendency to limit the product, and thus lessen the possibility of a still further decline in prices Vastly increased expenditure on public works has been succeeded by the almost complete cessation of construction Economy in business and personal expenses has taken the place to a very large extent of extravagance and reckless liberality and this very tendency while it is the cause of restricted business is one of the best signs of an early return of prosperity

As far as Oregon figures in the report the showing is not so bad as the average for the other parts of the country The total number of failures in this State during the six months ending June 30th 1876 were 14 with the amount involved 154,716 of which 6 failures and $25,300 of liabilities are credited to the first quarter and 8 failures and $129,416 to the second quarter The failures in the State during the first six months of 1875 were 13 in number and $302,948 in amount—an increase of 1 in the number of failures this year and a decrease of $148,232 in the amount involved

The Produce Market

Under present circumstances and the condition of the San Francisco and Liverpool wheat markets little or nothing is being done or could be done here The leading exporters who have hitherto operated largely in Oregon are reported to have few vessels chartered to arrive and will take up no others until they are certain about cargoes Prices are unchanged and almost entirely nominal for shipping lots Farmers who held their wheat when it was $1 75@1 80 per cental will of course not put it on the market when it commands 40 or 45 cents less and as this class comprises those who now hold the principal portion of the surplus in this State, the offers for immediate delivery are very few and neither shippers nor producers are yet taking any active steps in regard to the disposition of the new crop Flour is in good supply with a fair local trade and shipments have recently been very light Oats are in fair demand and but few coming in the export trade has about ceased until the new crop is marketed Provisions are active and some sales at full quotations are noted the supply of choice bacon is limited and moderate sized lots are readily placed Extra qualities of lard are in good demand at our quotations, Dried fruit is unchanged as far as transactions are concerned and the surplus being about exhausted but little more will be done until the new crop comes in Dairy products are not in heavy receipt and though the market is steady the demand is so well supplied that it might be difficult to place large lots

Eggs have sold for several days quite readily at 30 cents and are still held by jobbers at that figure Poultry is plentiful at quotations Hides are in limited receipt and prices steady at the advance Wool is slightly improved in tone and the general feeling is that better prices may be realized but we continue our former quotations as best describing actual transactions The outgoing steamer for San Francisco to day carries about 20,000 pounds the greater portion being shipped on commission to be sold for growers
